

Air Force Culture and Language Center (AFCLC)
CLTR201 Introduction To Culture (ITC) Course [MAFCLC002]
CLTR202 Introduction To Cross-Cultural Communication (CCC) Course [MAFCLC003]
Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) File
Current as of 1 Aug '18

Am I eligible to participate in these courses?

Only enlisted members of the US Armed Forces (Active Duty, Reserve Component & National Guard) who are enrolled in the Community College of the Air Force (CCAF) program are eligible to take these courses.

I qualify for Project Warrior. Can I participate in these courses?

Yes. Procedures for this are situation specific and coordinated with CCAF.

How much will these courses cost me?

Nothing. There is no cost.

I've taken the ADLS 'Culture General' Course already. Aren't these the same?

Absolutely not! ADLS courses are formulated as training material. Our offerings are college level courses and require increased commitment on your part. They present more sophisticated concepts which will require more effort to comprehend and apply the knowledge. As a practical matter, you will be expected to read a greater volume of material, the material will be more demanding, and assignments, quizzes & exams will require greater understanding to pass.

What kind of academic credit do these courses provide?

These general education courses provide 3 semester hours of social science credit. If you have already earned your CCAF social science credit, they can be applied to meet the CCAF program elective credit requirement.

Will these courses fulfill a humanities or speech requirement?

No. These courses will only fulfill a Social Science or CCAF program elective requirement.

Will these courses fulfill a residency requirement?

Yes. Each of these courses meet 3 hours of your CCAF residency requirement.

Will the academic credit I earn in these courses be accepted at the college I'm attending?

That depends on the institution. Usually the school in question will require an official course number and course description be submitted to them for evaluation.

A number of our students have successfully submitted these courses for academic credit at other universities. Air University (AU) is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) and the Community College of the Air Force (CCAF) has determined these courses have the necessary academic rigor to include on the transcript of your education record.

Where can I find the course titles and the course descriptions?

You will find the CCAF Course Catalog here: <https://www.airuniversity.af.mil/Barnes/CCAF/>

I've already completed my CCAF degree. Can I still take these courses?

Yes.

Air Force Culture and Language Center (AFCLC)
CLTR201 Introduction To Culture (ITC) Course [MAFCLC002]
CLTR202 Introduction To Cross-Cultural Communication (CCC) Course [MAFCLC003]
Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) File
Current as of 1 Aug '18

How many courses does AFCLC offer which meet CCAF academic requirements?

AFCLC offers both the CLTR201 Introduction to Culture (ITC) Course, and CLTR202 Introduction to Cross-Cultural Communication (CCC). Both provide social science credit and are general education courses applicable to the CCAF program elective credit requirement. To get details about upcoming courses go to the following web site: <http://culture.af.mil>

Is one of these courses a prerequisite for the other?

No.

I've never taken an "online" course before. What should I expect?

These courses are delivered through a Learning Management System (LMS). You will use a username and password to login to the LMS and access the course materials. Typically, the course's academic modules consist of a 'core concepts' presentation, multimedia clips, required readings, knowledge checks/exercises, and formative quizzes. There are 12 academic modules, which include formative quizzes. There are 3 or 4 summative assignments/exams, which will determine your grade. For additional information go to the following web site: <http://culture.af.mil>

Do I need to be online at a certain time of the day?

No. These courses are asynchronous. There are no 'real time' interaction requirements.

Do I need a web cam?

No.

When will I be receiving my books/course materials?

There are no hard-copy materials. All course content is provided through the LMS. You will need to have reliable access to the Internet for course participation and research purposes.

What are the technological skills/requirements for me to participate in these online courses?

- Ready access to a computer and the internet using a modern browser (Edge, Chrome, Firefox)
- Reliable use of a 'non-.mil' e-mail address
- PDF viewing software (e.g. Acrobat Reader, browser plug-in, etc.)
- Capability to view Flash based video files in your computer's browser
- Capability to open, view, print, edit and submit documents in MS Office formats
- Completion of the Orientation module at the beginning of the course, which covers items such as posting and responding to discussion boards, downloading and uploading files, submitting assessments, taking quizzes & exams online, and learning to navigate within the LMS.

Can I use my Android or iOS based phone/tablet to take the course?

It is possible to access the course content using a mobile device, but we discourage solely using these devices to access content and disallow their use for graded test taking.

When do the courses start?

Details about upcoming courses are posted to the following web site:
<http://culture.af.mil>

Air Force Culture and Language Center (AFCLC)
CLTR201 Introduction To Culture (ITC) Course [MAFCLC002]
CLTR202 Introduction To Cross-Cultural Communication (CCC) Course [MAFCLC003]
Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) File
Current as of 1 Aug '18

How long are the courses?

Details about upcoming courses are posted to the following web site:
<http://culture.af.mil>

How do I sign up for the course(s)?

You can apply for all AFCLC education courses through the AU Portal. Instructions are available through each course's web page. Look for the link "Enrollment Directions".

Do I need a Common Access Card (CAC) to establish an AU Portal account and enroll in the course?

Yes. You will need a CAC to enroll.

Once enrolled, do I need a CAC to participate in the course?

No.

Do I need access to a government network (e.g. .mil, .gov, etc.) to establish an AU Portal account or enroll in the course?

Not normally, however you will need a CAC reader and software for your non-.mil computer.

Do I need access to a government network (e.g. .mil, .gov, etc.) to participate in the course?

No, not once you're enrolled.

What is an enrollment window?

The only time period during which you can apply for a specific course via the AU Portal.

What if I have to go on a short notice TDY or take emergency leave during the course?

If you cannot finish the course requirements by the end of the course, you will have to properly disenroll and then re-take the course in its entirety to include reapplying.

What if I have to disenroll from the course?

We encourage careful deliberation by students and expect them to commit to completing the course before enrolling. Every disenrollment represents a lost opportunity to another Airman and a waste of Air Force resources. With that said, we understand sometimes it becomes impossible to continue meaningful participation in a course due to unforeseen circumstances.

When the situation warrants disenrollment after 2 weeks into the course, disenrollment requests must be submitted by your commander.

Students who cease to meaningfully participate in the course and fail to complete all the graded events, without a properly documented disenrollment, will be considered to have abandoned the course.

I previously enrolled in the course but had to disenroll. Can I enroll again?

Yes. If you properly disenrolled you may re-enroll. However, repeated disenrollment will lower the priority of your future enrollment requests. Course abandonment may result in reduction of enrollment priority or suspension of enrollment privileges.

Air Force Culture and Language Center (AFCLC)
CLTR201 Introduction To Culture (ITC) Course [MAFCLC002]
CLTR202 Introduction To Cross-Cultural Communication (CCC) Course [MAFCLC003]
Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) File
Current as of 1 Aug '18

What happens if I fail a course?

If you earn a grade lower than 'C,' CCAF will not accept the course for academic credit.

I previously failed a course. Can I take it again?

Yes. However, repeated or willful failure will lower the priority of your future enrollment requests. Willful failure by a student is indicated by a lack of reasonable effort made to pass the course as judged by the professor of record.

How long after a course ends will I get my grade?

You will be able to see your current score within the LMS at any time. The course syllabus will detail how to compute the letter grade. However, your final letter grade will not be available until the assessments and academic integrity teams have finished their analysis and the instructor has finished grading. While it may appear earlier, you will typically see your final letter grade within the LMS about 1 week after the end of the academic session.

How long will it take for my CCAF transcript to reflect the academic credit?

Final grades are transmitted to CCAF via the AU Registrar within 30 days of the end of the course. The academic credit should appear on your record within 60 days.

Will I have to do anything to ensure the academic credit I earned is reflected on my education record?

No. The academic credit is automatically transmitted to CCAF via the AU Registrar.

Will I receive a certificate?

No. Due to budgetary and manpower reductions, effective Fiscal Year 2014 (October 2013) completion certificates are no longer mailed to course graduates.

How can I get a copy of my CCAF transcript?

Information regarding CCAF transcripts is available at the following website:
<https://www.airuniversity.af.mil/Barnes/CCAF/>

Can I finish early?

Yes. These courses are self-paced and can be completed more quickly than the time allotted. HOWEVER, you cannot get credit early. Due to policies outside our control, the academic credit will be transmitted to CCAF along with all others after the end of the academic session.

Self-Paced. Does that mean I can start whenever I want?

No. You cannot begin early. Also, you must login to the course and complete the pre-course activities within the first week of class or you will be considered a NO SHOW and someone else MAY be given an opportunity to take your 'seat' in the class. Finally, the summative assignments must be accomplished by pre-set deadlines throughout the term. So, you must meet each deadline.

Air Force Culture and Language Center (AFCLC)
CLTR201 Introduction To Culture (ITC) Course [MAFCLC002]
CLTR202 Introduction To Cross-Cultural Communication (CCC) Course [MAFCLC003]
Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) File
Current as of 1 Aug '18

What if I'm on Leave during the beginning of the course?

These courses are not part of your official working duties. You do not require a CAC to access the course. Thus, your leave status doesn't affect your availability for these online courses and isn't an excuse for being a NO SHOW.

What if I'm TDY or Deployed during the beginning of the course?

If you establish positive contact with us via the AFCLC/ESS organizational e-mail box, afclc.ess@us.af.mil, and coordinate your absence beforehand, we will attempt to preserve your seat in the course on a case-by-case basis.

I'm going to separate/retire during the course. Can I still receive the academic credit?

No. You have to be Active Duty or participating in the Guard or Reserve component to receive the academic credit.

I'm going to separate/retire after the course is over. Can I still receive the academic credit?

It depends on the timing. You should contact CCAF with the specifics.
<https://www.airuniversity.af.mil/Barnes/CCAF/>

Can I take both of these courses simultaneously?

Yes. However, to maximize participation, priority will be given to those applicants who are not currently participating in another one of our courses.

I have a question which is not covered here. What should I do?

You should ensure you read all the web pages for the course, including the downloadable Course Brochure, Academic Calendar and Enrollment Directions PDF files. If you still have questions submit them to: afclc.enroll@us.af.mil