Senior Enlisted Leader Update

Notes from CCAF Admin Center

We are keenly focused on shortening the average degree completion timeline for Airmen within the CCAF system. One recent change aimed at that effort was accrediting the course delivered through the 737th TRG (BMT). The CCAF Dean reviewed all the BMT curriculum and determined that the content amounted to 6 semester hours of military studies credit. Beginning with the 3 Aug 18 graduates, Amn will have met the LMMS requirement for their CCAF degree. This means Airmen who have the required Gen Ed credit (15 hrs), COULD be eligible to earn their A.A.S. degree once they complete their 5 level (Amn should consult with their local education offices for individual requirements). One additional benefit of this decision is that Military Training Instructors are once again CCAF instructors and can be eligible for instructor benefits, such as the ITMS degree and CICs.

Innovations across the CCAF System

2AF/CCC hosted a TRG Sup Summit in Oct to talk through successes and challenges with changing educational paradigms such as "Flipping the Classroom" and the SCALE-UP model. These initiatives will allow significant flexibility in how, when, and where students learn within the CCAF System.

CCAF by the Numbers:

Airmen earned 2M semester hours through the CCAF system last year. That's $500 million dollars of college credit delivered through AF technical training, OJT, and PME--HALF A BILLION DOLLARS!
